THREE BIG STOCK EVENTS RUN TODAY.

Exciting and Thrilling Finishes.—Wires Not Working At First and Tide Came In Too Rapidly For Time Trials.

(By James B. E. Bush, of the Hearst Syndicate.)
The first day of the speed carnival opened auspiciously, crowds flocking to the beach soon after the breakfast hour. A blockade ensued upon the South Bridge leading to the course. The line reached from the end of the bridge to the toll house.
The first event run was the ten miles Southern championship with four entries: Bob Bond with a Starn, Gus Grosjean with a Hildebrand, Pope-Hartford, W. E. Davis with a Chalmers and Hildebrand with a Mitchell. At the turn the Pope-Hartford led, taking the lead soon after receiving the starting flag. A neck and neck finish between the Starns and the Pope-Hartford was one of the most thrilling touches of the day's events, but Grosjean made a beautiful drawaway at the nine mile post and finished just in the lead of Bond who was second. Davis with the Chalmers finished third and Hildebrand with the Mitchell was fourth and last. The time was nine minutes and twenty-seven hundredths seconds for the Pope-Hartford, and Bond's time was nine minutes and thirty-four hundredths seconds.
The crowd by this time was awakened from the mid morning slumber and the next event was started promptly. On account of the tide not being far enough out the five mile straightaway was put over until tomorrow. The twenty mile free-for-all, open to stock chassis with three entries was started next. The respectable Barney Oldfield with the Starn, Knox, Harry Orndorff with a Chalmers "40," and Gus Grosjean with the victorious Pope-Hartford, greeted Starter Allen.
It was an even break at the start, Oldfield leading slightly. The three cars came to the ten mile post all within a short distance of each other. Orndorff with the Chalmers "40" leading, Oldfield with the Knox, second and Grosjean with the Pope-Hartford third.
Oldfield made a "fox pass" here and took the turn easy, slowing down for it. Orndorff made a sand slide trying to take the turn too fast and skidded around, stalling his motor. Oldfield took the lead and Grosjean also passed the Chalmers. After having to get out and crank his car, Orndorff again got under way, although far in the rear, and hopelessly out of the running, barring accidents to the other two contestants.
The thrilling finish of the day was between Grosjean again and Oldfield.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE NEW SMYRNA ROAD. SIX TURNOUTS HAVE BEEN MADE AND MUCH OTHER WORK DONE.

The committee of improvement on the New Smyrna road, consisting of A. W. Wells, E. D. W. Rose, Major A. B. Foster, W. E. Blodgett and Hon. George H. Munroe, has accomplished a great deal with the funds at hand.
Six turn-outs in all have been made, three on the Spruce Creek fill, one at Rose Bay and also two north of Rose Bay, besides considerable underbrushing has been done along the roadside where it would be of advantage, while ruts and chuck holes in the road have been filled. This work has all been done by contribution and has been in charge of F. O. Sparkman of Port Orange.
The work of filling holes in the roadway between Port Orange and this city is now being carried on, and if money enough is forthcoming the road from here to Ormond will also be put in good condition. The county is furnishing the shell for the work on the Port Orange road.
The committee is asking for a donation of $5.00 from each automobile owner and very few refusals are met with, nearly every man approached being ready and willing to contribute that amount, but it would save the committee much time and labor if owners of cars would send in their money to one of the members, without waiting to be accosted personally.
If you own an automobile and have not already contributed to this work, make a point of handing or sending five dollars for the purpose to one of the gentlemen named above, for certainly you are as much interested in the road improvement of this section as any of them.
MADE SOME BIG CATCHES OF SHEEPSHEAD.
Sheffield Wright, of Bay street, accompanied by his wife and mother, made a fishing trip to the Inlet yesterday aboard G. H. Holland's boat, that turned out a bumper catch of sheepshead.
The party did their fishing at the Duss dock, on the peninsula between the Inlet and New Smyrna bridge, and luckily hit upon one of those times when the fish were taking the bait with more than usual avidity. Mr. Wright says they landed about 175 pounds of sheepshead in about two hours time.
John K. Maley also made a heavy catch at the same time and place, landing single handed, 75 pounds of the fish and then stopped merely because he was tired of the sport. He had previously captured a number of fine trout and bluefish by trolling on his way down to the Inlet.
Mr. Maley left here at half past eight in the morning and returned at two in the afternoon, making the return trip from the Duss dock to this place in one hour and ten minutes in his speedy boat the "Keen Kutter."

FOUR KILLED, SEVERAL INJURED.

FOUR KILLED AND SEVERAL ARE INJURED IN RAILROAD WRECK IN KENTUCKY.
LEXINGTON, Ky., March 22—The wrong order of a railway operator at Borea this morning caused a head-on collision between two trains on the Kentucky Central division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad at White Station near Richmond Gorge. Brakeman James Stock, Fireman Buster and Engineer Sanford were killed and several injured.
The operator realizing his mistake sent wrecking crews before the wreck occurred.

AUTOMOBILE RACES ATTRACTING PEOPLE

That the automobile races are attracting people to the city was demonstrated yesterday by the crowds brought in by both rail and boat.
There was quite a number on the steamer Republic and a big crowd from the South on the Constitution, while the local train from the south, due here at 3:11 in the afternoon, unloaded 155 passengers at this depot, and the Pullman train an hour later brought 40 or 50 more.

CHURCH ELECTS OFFICERS AND GETS DEED TO LOT.

At a meeting of the Christian Church held recently, the following trustees were elected for the ensuing year, F. G. Lindburg, J. M. Tisdale, F. M. Call and E. L. Furr. The following were declared of the congregation, R. G. Hathaway, J. M. Tisdale and F. M. Call. The trustees have received a deed to the church property free of all encumbrance.
Rev. O. G. Hertzog will preach the Easter sermon Sunday morning. His subject will be, "The Problem of Life and Immortality."

PROMINENT EDITOR VISITS DAYTONA

C. H. Walton, editor and proprietor of the East Coast Advocate, is here from Titusville, attending the automobile races. He is accompanied by his wife, nee Miss Wilhelmina E. Mack, daughter of the famous inventor of the Mack locomotive injector and many other devices that are known all over the world. Mr. and Mrs. Walton came up on the Constitution in company with Commodore J. H. Allen, with whom they were visiting at Allenhurst.
Edward A. Judge, of New Haven, Conn., arrived from Havana, Cuba, this morning, stopping over in this city on his way North for a visit with his friend, L. D. Curran, of Elmira, N. Y., who, with his wife, is located on First avenue for the season. Mr. Judge is a brother of Judge Judge, of Buffalo, N. Y.

SENATOR DANIEL IMPROVED.

MORE EASILY AROUSED THIS MORNING THAN YESTERDAY INDICATING CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.
An official bulletin, issued at 8:00 this morning indicates that Senator John W. Daniel's condition is slightly improved. The bulletin says:
The Senator was more restless last night and more easily aroused than during yesterday. Slight involuntary movements occur occasionally in the paralyzed limbs. Pulse slightly elevated during the night, when restless, but still satisfactory. Nourishment being taken; circulation and respiration continue good.

THREE PRISONERS TAKEN TO DeLAND MONDAY

Deputy Sheriff John Myers took three prisoners, all colored, to New Smyrna Monday afternoon and turned them over to Sheriff E. L. Smith for lodgement in the county jail at DeLand.
One of the men, J. B. Neal, charged with embezzlement and doing an insurance business without a license was out on bond, but was surrendered by his bondsmen Saturday.

The other men were Eugene Howard and Rolly Bryant. Howard was before Justice H. T. Titus Monday morning charged with aggravated assault on another colored man named Charley Smith, whom he seriously cut with a knife Sunday afternoon, while Bryant was charged with interfering with an officer while making an arrest, having shown an ugly front over the arrest of Howard when the colored officer, Sampson, and deputy Sheriff Myers were bringing Howard in from Midway.
Howard was put under $300 bond, and Bryant under $200, failing which they went to jail.

BICYCLE RIDER RUN DOWN BY HACKMAN.

A W. Springer, deliveryman for C. R. M. Sheppard's grocery on North Beach street, was run down by a colored hackman in front of the postoffice yesterday, while on his bicycle, but fortunately escaped with slight injury, although he fell backward from his wheel.
The street at the postoffice was congested with vehicles at the time, and Mr. Springer was riding very slowly. The carriage came up behind him going southward.
Mr. Springer is a brother of the young man, I. M. Springer, of Daytona Beach, who was injured last week by a fall from his wheel at Seabreeze.

INSURGENTS WILL NOT SEEK PLACES UNDER NEW RULES

WASHINGTON, March 22—House insurgents decided today that they will not seek places on the new rules committee, but will accept if elected by caucus. Leader Murdock says insurgents fought for principle, not jobs.
The Democrats are apparently agreed on the election of Clark, of Missouri, Underwood of Alabama, and Fitzgerald of New York. Caucus will be held tomorrow night.

STRIKE SITUATION HANGS BY A THREAD TODAY.

CHICAGO, March 22—Following a conference with railroad managers last night Labor Commissioner Neill is again meeting the firemen's committee today. Peace hangs by a thread, but the railroads say there will be no strike, following the announcement that Neill had made definite propositions to the firemen on forty-nine Western roads. Neill refuses to discuss the plan, but it is reported satisfactory to the managers and accepted tentatively by the firemen.

SEVERAL REPORTED KILLED IN WRECK.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Mar. 22—Several persons are reported killed in a wreck on the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad at Traer, Iowa, near Ft. Dodge.

PROGRESSIVE NEW SMYRNA

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of bygone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low. A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile. Silent, in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the roof being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach. Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with sub-tropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobilism, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are mute invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moundgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moundgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road [passing Number Nine] and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

PICTURESQUE PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite. The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels.

A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grape-fruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised.

West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years.

A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

DELAND, THE ATHENS OF FLORIDA

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute.

From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

Camp Cassadaga, a spiritualistic camp-ground is situated near Lake Helen and at this place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

ORANGE CITY
 The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mrs. F. H. Krantz and son, of Flatbush, Brooklyn, arrived Sunday and will remain over Easter, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelle, on Second avenue.

Mrs. Crandal Morgan, little son and mother, Madam Morgan, who are located in Mrs. A. E. Hadfield's cottage on Palmetto avenue, leave Wednesday for their home in Akron, O.

The Unanswerable Question will be the subject of Rev. H. H. Mallinson's sermon at the M. E. Church this evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these evening meetings during Holy Week.

Mrs. C. C. Mellor sang at the First Baptist Church Sunday. The solo rendered, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," was sung in a clear beautiful voice, and greatly enjoyed by all present.

C. M. Rogers arrived from Kissimmee yesterday afternoon, having been called home by the illness of his infant daughter, Frances, who was, however, much better when he reached here.

Mr. and Mrs. Machsell and housekeeper, Mrs. Beardsley, of Shelby, Mich., who have been occupying the leave this week for St. Augustine where they will visit briefly before proceeding on their way homeward.

Hunter Miller, of Bedford, Va., arrived last week and joined Mrs. Miller, who, in company with her mother, Mrs. Henry C. Jones, has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. G. Gardner, on North Ridgewood avenue.

Mrs. Morton Matting and daughter, Miss Mildred Matting, of Cincinnati, will leave Tuesday for Lexington, Ky., after having spent the winter at the Magnolia. They will visit relatives in Kentucky for several weeks before continuing their journey home.

FOR SALE—Two of the most desirable building lots on Ridgewood avenue fronting east, in the same block with Mr. Sebring's beautiful mansion, 55 feet front, 300 feet deep. Price $2,000 each. The same size lots on Ridgewood just above Magnolia avenue are held at $3,500 each. Conrad-Oates Realty Title & Insurance Co. 15-1f

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Williams went motoring to DeLand Junction Sunday morning to meet the former's brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Williams and three children, Elsie, Lucile and Lester, who came up from Punta Gorda to visit their relatives and attend the Speed Carnival. They are here for a few days stay only.

The Episcopal guild and church have just received a fresh coat of paint, and the painters are at work on the rectory this week, and expect to have it completed by Easter. The ladies of the St. Marys Guild are paying for the work from the proceeds of their season's sales, and are to be commended for their judicious expenditure of the money as well as for their efforts in raising the same.

Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Sharpe, of Boston, and Mrs. Sharpe's brother, Hiram Hall, came up from St. Petersburg, from which point they have toured the Southern part of the State and will spend a couple of weeks in Daytona with Mrs. Haack, on Second avenue. Mrs. Sharpe was here four years ago, and after visiting most of the other resort towns of Florida is convinced that Daytona leads the list in beauty of location.

A. O. Botts, county superintendent of schools, came over from DeLand yesterday afternoon on school business.

Mr. and Mrs. Brantingham, of Rockford, Ill., who have been in Cuba and Miami are in the city sight seeing, located on Ridgewood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodworth and baby, of Milwaukee, Wis., came up from Miami on the boat and are located with Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Robert, on First avenue.

The three Misses Daus, of Rochester, N. Y., who are touring Florida, arrived Monday night on the Republic and left the following morning on the Constitution for Palm Beach. They expect to stop at Daytona for a short visit on their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Bedell, of Lake Helen, and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Chappell, of Michigan, who have been in Lake Helen this winter, came over by automobile Monday and have taken rooms at the E. R. Greene home on Ridgewood avenue.

Making It Simple.

The scholarly looking man with the big eyeglasses had been invited to address the Sunday school and was making a few remarks concerning the lesson.

"I see the word 'line' occurs here," he said. "Will some one give me a definition of 'line'?"

Nobody answered. "It is very easy," he proceeded encouragingly, "though you may find it a little perplexing to convey the idea in simple terms. Try again. Well, the ordinary signification of the word is longitudinal extension, but here it denotes a predetermined boundary. I am sure, my young friends, you can remember that."

Pleaded an Extension.

An Indiana youth had called with a cab to take the judge's daughter to a dance, scarcely two blocks from her home. The judge entered the room where the youth was waiting. Pacing across the room a couple of times with his head bent and thoughts concentrated, he came short about in front of the youth and exclaimed:

"Young man, this cab hiring to go two blocks is foolish, unwise, unthoughtful, misguided, unreasonable, lavish—a prodigality—a—a—I am surprised. My daughter is flesh and blood, and she won't melt, and if her gown should be ruined I bought it, and I can buy her—"

"That's all right, judge, but my father is paying for that cab."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Curse.

An Irish authority thus defines as an expert the effects of a well delivered curse: "The belief among the ancient Irish was that a curse once pronounced must fall in some direction. If it has been deserved by him on whom it is pronounced it will fall on him sooner or later, but if it has not then it will return upon the person who pronounced it. They compare it to a wedge with which a woodman cleaves timber. If it has room to go it will go and cleave the wood, but if it has not it will fly out and strike the woodman himself who is driving it between the eyes."—London Globe.

Strict Women Who Love.

The strictest women are at times the most loving. When this happens their attachment is as strong as death, their fidelity as resisting as the diamond. They are hungry for devotion and thirst for sacrifice. Their love is a plety, their tenderness a religion, and they triple the energy of love by enshrining it as a duty.—Henri Frederic Amiel.

Shadows.

The shadows of the mind are like those of the body. In the morning of life they all lie behind us, at noon we trample them underfoot, and in the evening they stretch long, broad and deepening before us.

An Exception.

She (protestingly)—That's just like you men. A man never gets into trouble without dragging some woman in with him. He—Oh, I don't know. How about Jonah in the whale?—Boston Transcript.

A Mean Retort.

Bertha—I'm sorry you asked me to marry you. It pains me to refuse. Will (cheerfully)—Oh, don't worry! Perhaps you know best what I'm escaping.

The highest exercise of charity is charity toward the uncharitable.—Ruckminster.

Curious Styles of Letter Endings.
 Any one in the habit of perusing old letters is struck with the tone of great humility and deference which pervades the correspondence of our ancestors.

A few specimens of the style of beginning and ending letters may prove interesting as in striking contrast to the laconic "yours obediently," "faithfully" or "truly" of the present day. It would certainly be difficult to match the following subscription of a letter from the Duke of Shrewsbury to Sir Thomas Hanmer, dated September, 1713: "I desire that you will believe that, wherever I am, I shall always endeavor to deserve and very much value your friendship, being, with a sincere esteem, sir, your most faithful and obedient servant, Shrewsbury."

Frequently one meets with bellicose subscriptions, as in the case of the Earls of Hutly and Errol, who in 1594 threatened "awful consequences to the magistrates of Aberdeen unless they released certain gentlemen imprisoned in their city and inscribed, "Yours as ye will, either present peace or weir."

Arithmetic by Hand.

We shall never be in danger of forgetting that our ancestors did their sums on their fingers so long as arithmetic retains the word "digits." But modern civilization knows nothing of the elaborate developments of this method. It takes a Wallachian peasant to multiply 8 by 9 on his hands. This is how he does it: The fingers of either hand, beginning with the thumb, stand for the numbers from 6 to 10. So the ring finger of one hand and the middle finger of the other are stuck out to represent 8 and 9. Counting the fingers remaining on the side farthest from the thumbs he finds them 1 and 2 respectively, and 1 multiplied by 2 gives him the units of his product—2. Then he counts from the thumbs to the stuck out fingers inclusive, finds them 3 and 4, adds these, and gets 7 for his tens. Answer, 72. All this to avoid knowing the multiplication table beyond 4 times 4!

For the Judge's Information.

The police court judge could not suppress a smile when his eyes rested on a card that was lying on his desk during a session of the court. On it were printed two stanzas under the title "The Perfect Man," and he could not but look at the motley gang of prisoners who sat before him. And he did not think the card had been dropped accidentally. The verses read:

There is a man who never drinks,
 Who smokes, but chews, and never swears,
 Who never gambles, never fights,
 And shuns all sinful snares—
 He's paralyzed.

There is a man who never does
 Anything that is not right.
 His wife can tell just where he is
 At morning, noon and night—
 He's dead.

—Indianapolis News.

Needle Dust.

In factories where needles are made the grindstones throw off great quantities of minute steel particles, with which the air becomes heavily charged, although the dust is too fine to be perceptible to the eye. Breathing the dust shows no immediate effect, but gradually sets up irritation, usually ending in pulmonary consumption. Ineffective attempts were made to screen the air by gauze or linen guards for nose and mouth. At last the use of the magnet was suggested, and now masks of magnetized steel wire are worn by workmen and effectively remove the metal dust before the air is breathed.—London Graphic.

Wife (looking up from paper)—What was "Hobson's choice?"
 Husband—Mrs. Hobson, I suppose.—London Express.

Heart to Heart
Talks.
 By EDWIN A. NYE.

A REAL GENTLEMAN.

She was not pretty, nor smartly dressed, nor especially attractive. Diminutive in size and frayed out with a day's hard work downtown, she got on the street car with a heavy pasteboard laundry box under her arm.

A number of men were sitting, but none of them offered to give her a seat. Wearily the little woman reached up with her free hand for the strap (street car straps are not made for small women) and stood in the jolting car, straining her frail body upward.

After a few stops a freshly groomed and laundried woman got on. A "gentleman" of her acquaintance who had been too busy with his evening paper to see the forlorn working woman hastened to offer her his seat, which the lady very graciously acknowledged.

The car rumbled on, and the little woman drooped wearily.

Finally an old man who sat with his back to the little woman happened to turn himself about. He noted the tired face and promptly left his seat and offered it to her.

And as she sat down he saw tears in her eyes.

All about her as she hung to her strap she had seen consideration paid to strong and handsome women, while she was too weak and too miserable to attract or claim a woman's privilege.

Denied common courtesy, singled out and isolated as the only woman on the car to be thus treated—how could you hurt a woman more than that?

The old man was the only chivalric soul of them all.

Oh, there were a-plenty of men there more polite in their demeanor, more urbane and polished in their bearing than he, but of them all he alone exhibited the real courtesy that does not discriminate.

Evidently he was of the belief that if one woman was entitled to a seat as a matter of courtesy all women were thus entitled.

And it may be—like to think so—

It may be he was of the belief that if any woman should stand in a street car and hold on to a strap it is the woman who in the afternoon makes an elaborate toilet to come down town and look into the shop windows or do a little desultory buying rather than the woman who is tired in body and soul because she must work for a living.

That old man was entitled to "the good old name of gentleman."

A gentleman is, first of all, kind.

The Difference to the Scot.

At the trial of the rebels held at Caeslisle, England, after the 1745 rising one witness was, although a Scotchman, examined under the English form of adjuration. He gave an account so palpably wide of the truth that the prosecuting counsel had him resworn after the form of his own country. He then gave evidence of a very different stamp. On being asked how he came to utter so many falsehoods when first sworn he replied: "Sworn! There's an unco' difference between blawin' on a beuk an' sennin' ane's saul to hell!"

The Insult.

She—And knowing my sentiments on the subject, did Mr. Binks insult you by offering you a drink?

He—That's what Mr. Binks did. She—And how did you resent it? He (meekly)—I swallowed the insult.—London Mail.

Only Once.
 There are two kinds of people in the world—those who look on the bright side of things and those who do not. Each sort is sure to extract his or her own moral from everything.
 Two old ladies, both of whom were well cared for, were once conversing about their affairs. One was a jolly old lady, while the other was of a sour disposition.
 "Well, well," said the jolly one, "it's pleasant to be old. We get the best of everything—the easiest chairs, the best places, the tenderest morsels!"
 "Yes, yes," sighed the other, forced to admit that her life was an easy one, "that's all very true, but what's the use? We can't be old but once!"—Youth's Companion.

Horse or Beef?
 The first day horse was served out at Kimberley some of it was cooked for the officers' mess at the mounted camp. At the table Peakman said:
 "Gentlemen, I am sorry to say that we were unable to get all our ration in beef today and had to take part of it in horseflesh. This which I am offering is beef; the horse is at the other end, and any one who prefers it can help himself."
 Nobody did prefer it, and so they all ate beef and made a good dinner. When they had finished Peakman suddenly exclaimed:
 "By Jove, gentlemen, I find I have made a mistake in the joints! This is the horseflesh and the other is beef."
 It was just a dodge of his to get them started on the horseflesh.—Diary of Dr. Oliver Ashe.

His Choice.
 Lady (to Irish gardener, who "obliges" by the day)—Well, Dan, and what do I owe you for today? Dan—Sure, ma'am, I'd sooner be taking the 5 shillings you'd be offering me than the 2 shillings I'd be asking of you.—London Scraps.

"Fight today's temptation as it comes" is good advice. And if it seems to be only trifling fight it the harder.

"Sot" in His Ways.
"Talking about folks being 'sot' in their ways," said a writer, "reminds me of a pretty girl of twenty who married a wealthy old widower of over fifty. This old chap was very much a widower. This girl was, in fact, his fourth wife. Well, on the return from the honeymoon the husband after dinner took up his hat, overcoat and umbrella. The wife, beautiful in a white décolleté gown that was no whiter than her shoulders, said:

"Where are you going, dear?"
"He gave her a stern look and answered coldly:
"My dear, I am not in the habit of telling my wives where I am going every time I step out of the house."

The Worried Manager.
"What's the trouble?" asked the impresario's friend.
"I can't keep my people down to their own lines of work. The prima donnas will kick and the ballet won't."
—Washington Star.

The Installments.
Patience—They say she got all her furniture on the installment plan? Patience—She did. She has had four husbands, and she got a little furniture with each one.—Yonkers Statesman.

The man who cannot blush and who has no feeling of fear has reached the acme of impudence.—Menander.

Prepared For It.
If young Mrs. Miller had not inadvertently used a certain bit of slang one day she might never have discovered what opinion her hitherto forbearing husband held concerning her attempts at cooking desserts.

Noticing when dinner was half over that Mr. Miller appeared downcast, the bride exclaimed suddenly:
"Cheer up, Frank; the worst is yet to come."

"What?" gasped the husband, taken unawares. "Have you made a pudding?"—Woman's Home Companion.

Eighth Annual Daytona Beach Speed Carnival

Exhibition Races and Time Trials

SPEED TOURNAMENT MARCH 15, 22, 23 AND 24, 1910

GENERAL INFORMATION

An admission fee of 25 cents each day will be charged all spectators within the enclosure to the races, both the exhibition and the record trials. The meet is not conducted as a money-making event, but the small charges are made to help meet the enormous expense of conducting the meets.

A fee of 50 cents will be charged all automobiles and carriages parking west of the clubhouse along Halifax avenue. The Florida East Coast Automobile Association has leased this property for the occasion and will exercise supervision over it.

Parking spaces for automobiles will be provided on the beach at $2.00 per day, or $5.00 for all the events in addition to the regular admission price. These spaces may be purchased in advance at Hankins' Drug store, and the purchasers will be entitled to the spaces which they select, the first applying to have the choice.

The Ocean Beach has been set aside as a race course March 15, and March 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26, 1910, and the Sheriff of Volusia County, and the Florida East Coast Automobile Association jointly will have charge of the same.

Those desiring to obtain privileges of selling refreshments in front of the clubhouse may apply to the Secretary.

No persons except officials will be allowed on the course during the races or while cars are being tried out and anyone disregarding this rule will be subject to arrest.

Owners of dogs are especially requested to keep the animals off the beach, as their presence would endanger the lives of drivers. Dogs found on the beach during the days of the events will be summarily shot.

Only members of the Florida East Coast Automobile Association, their immediate families and a limited number of guests are allowed access to the clubhouse. No male resident of Volusia County is eligible to be a guest.

All races will either start or finish in front of the grand stand.

Grand stand admission will be 25 cents, or boxes holding 6 persons may be secured for $3.00 per day. Tickets for boxes will be on sale at Hankins' drug store.

NEW AMMUNITION.

By MILTON W. TOWNE.
[Copyright, 1900, by American Press Association.]

One day shortly after the close of the American civil war a small fleet of United States wooden men-of-war was lying at anchor in the harbor of Cherbourg. It was a gala day, for Napoleon III, then emperor of France, and the Empress Eugenie were in Cherbourg and had accepted an invitation from the admiral to visit his flagship. But before doing so the imperial couple inspected a French man-of-war.

Now, it so happened that a mess cook on board the French ship, the Esperance, was wholly unmindful of the important ceremony that was about to take place. Indeed, his captain had not considered it necessary to inform him. It would have been better had he done so. His failure resulted in a bitter feeling between the crews of the Esperance and the flagship of the American admiral.

Not knowing that the emperor and empress were about to come aboard the Esperance, Francois, a little bit of a sawed off Frenchman, with a tiny goatee and mustache to match, was cleaning knives, forks and spoons on the gun deck.

But, suddenly looking up, he saw Lieutenant Du Bois coming from the other end of the vessel. Francois knew by the bells that struck at the time that the lieutenant was going off duty and would go, as was his custom, to his cabin for a change of uniform. To reach his cabin he would be obliged to pass the point where the cook sat scouring. Francois, not caring to incur an officer's displeasure for performing his menial duty on deck, hurriedly threw the table articles into a mess pot, stepped to the muzzle of a ten inch gun, took out the tampon—the wooden plug kept in the mouths of cannon when not in use—thrust in the mess kit and put the tampon back in its place. When the lieutenant came by Francois was standing respectfully at attention.

"Francois," said the officer, "bring some biscuits and a glass of wine to my cabin."

"Yes, Monsieur le Lieutenant."

"Well, hurry. I have but little time before the ceremony takes place."

At the word ceremony Francois took flight. Ceremony meant salutes. He did not wish to leave the mess kit in the gun for fear the latter would be required for saluting purposes and the kit would be lost. But the lieutenant glared at him, and he dare not delay. He went below, carried the biscuit to Lieutenant Du Bois' cabin and was about to hurry back on deck when another officer, seeing him go by his open door, directed him to bring him a glass of wine. And so it was that the little cook was kept hurrying to do the bidding of one person after another till something happened.

The officer of the deck, seeing a crowd gathering at the dock, raised his glasses and, after a moment's inspection, cried out, "The emperor is coming." In a few minutes a barge left the dock, and poor Francois, still running about below, heard the guns above begin to boom in salute.

Now, it happened that several petty officers, including Pat Donagan, on board the American admiral's flagship, had secured permission to bring aboard their sweethearts—at least their vice sweethearts—and the party were enjoying themselves, when suddenly the air filled with flying knives, forks and spoons. In another moment they heard the boom of a gun. A fork stuck in a girl's cheek, a knife cut off a man's nose, and Pat Donagan received an injury which cost him an eye.

All knew that the Esperance in saluting the emperor and empress had accidentally fired a volley of tableware at the American flagship. Pat Donagan, who was a gunner, mad with pain and the indignity of being wounded with a butter knife, swore he would have revenge.

It was late in the afternoon when the emperor's barge was seen approaching the flagship. Donagan was in the saluting squad. The surgeon had ordered him to remain in his bunk, with his eye bandaged, but Pat had escaped and took position at his gun, which pointed toward the Esperance. Pat trained it on the galley of that ship and waited. He purposely forgot something, the tampon, which he left in the muzzle of his gun.

Presently the emperor's barge was seen heading toward the flagship. Guns began to boom from the sides; bands played; the yards were manned. When it came Pat Donagan's turn to fire his gun the report was a few moments late. He was taking a sure aim. Presently he fired, and a tampon went flying into the waters of the harbor.

The imperial visit was a short one, the hour being late. The imperial couple departed amid a similar ceremony that had attended their arrival. They had been gone but a few minutes when through the smoke that hung over the water a group of officers standing on the quarterdeck discovered a boat coming from the Esperance.

On the gun deck below stood a man, literally "with blood in his eye." He was Pat Donagan. He thought he could surmise the errand on which the boat was coming and watched it with grim satisfaction. As it came nearer an officer in full uniform was deserted sitting in the stern. When under the gun deck of the flagship he arose, bowed, took off his hat and said with great politeness:

"The officers of the Esperance are ever much obliged for the honor paid our emperor, but you killed a cook."

Donagan gave a grunt of satisfaction.

HIS ASSURANCE.

By CUTHBERT BAKER.
[Copyright, 1900, by American Press Association.]

Carstairs, though a gentleman, had the most unbounded assurance, and his resource was not less. He was very fond of telling how he got into places where there was no admittance except for a favored few and got out of scrapes simply by his unmitigated nerve.

In Paris he had secured an interview with the president of the French republic by dashing up to the Elysee palace in an automobile, alighting and stalking past the guards and attendants as though he were some immensely important personage, and having thus gained the ear of the president secured a valuable concession.

When Carstairs went to Naples friends he met there warned him, as strangers are always warned, against the dishonesty and trickery of the Neapolitans. "Why," said one fresh American importation, "I go out with 20 francs in my pocket, spend 5 and return to my hotel with 3. How they do it I don't know." Carstairs replied that he would never fail to count his change and therefore he couldn't lose anything.

Carstairs had spent so much time in northern Italy—he owned a villa on Lake Como—that he spoke Italian like a native. While in Naples he decided to give a dinner to a number of friends at the Hotel Murat. On the day of the dinner and just before the hour it was to take place there came up a sudden heavy shower. Carstairs wore a silk hat and also evening dress under a thin overcoat and had no umbrella. There are plenty of cabs in Naples, but every one in that neighborhood was appropriated by persons caught in the shower. Carstairs stood in the vestibule of a shop. Looking at his watch, he saw that it was within five minutes of the hour set for his dinner party. Seeing a well dressed man go by with an umbrella in the direction which he himself wanted to go, his assurance and inventive power came to the front. Dashing out from cover, he slipped his hand on the man's arm familiarly and said:

"What luck! I've been looking for you all over the city. I have great news for you. Signorina Paoli has given me a message for you which she would intrust to no one else, knowing that you are my most intimate friend and I am yours."

The man started to interrupt, but Carstairs gave him no opportunity.

"She regrets exceedingly," he went on, "her treatment of you and wishes to make amends. But her parents are very watchful. She wishes you to meet her in the park, or, rather, at the sea wall opposite the park, tomorrow evening just before dark. She will walk from north to south, while you are to walk in the opposite direction, starting at exactly 7 o'clock. If the weather is pleasant and the sea smooth have a boat at the center steps. She fears to meet some one who knows her, so she will be disguised, but you will know her by a flower that she will carry in her left hand."

"There, you lucky dog, you should consider yourself under undying obligations to me for consenting to bear the message. Had I not loved you so well I would not have done it, nor would the signorina have intrusted me with her confidence."

At this juncture the two reached the Hotel Murat, and Carstairs, with a "Goodby, dear boy! I wish you a pleasant boat ride tomorrow evening with your sweetheart," ran into the doorway.

The guests were assembled and all sat down to dinner. Carstairs was in high good humor. One of the company was smarting at having received in change three counterfeit five franc pieces.

"Never," said the unfortunate person, "have I mingled with a people so tricky as the Neapolitans."

"Oh, you don't know how to handle them," said Carstairs. "If you wish to be immune from being robbed you must tickle their vanity, and the way to do that is to tell a man of some woman who is dying for him."

And Carstairs told of how he had secured the use of an umbrella.

"But the man must have supposed that you had made a mistake," remarked one of the party. "He could have had no interest in this girl."

"Ah, you don't know the Italians! They are so full of romance that the fellow doubtless enjoyed the matter as much as if it were his own."

"Your shirt bosom is unbuttoned, Carstairs," said one of his friends, "and your necktie is away up under your left ear. You should have looked in a mirror before sitting down to dinner."

Carstairs put his hand to his shirt front, where he wore two diamond studs for which he had recently paid $500 each. They were both gone. A trifle pale, he thrust his hand into the pocket where he kept his wallet. It was not there. It had contained $400. It was not the loss of the studs or the money that affected Carstairs. It was the fact that he had been "done" by an Italian upon whom he thought he was playing an innocent joke. The expression on his face was one of shamefacedness.

"What is it, old man?" asked a guest.

"What is it? Why, I have given two diamond studs and 2,000 lira for the use of that umbrella."

For a few moments all looked seriously sympathetic, then the ludicrous side of the adventure got the better of the party, and all burst into laughter.

"My friends," said Carstairs, having recovered himself and raising his glass, "here's to the Neapolitans, the prestidigitators of the world!"

Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn;
If you don't it won't be blown.
The people won't flock
To buy your stock
If you never make it known.

So, Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn;
It's the proper business caper,
And the very best way
To make it pay
Is to blow it through this paper.
